

Your Alaskan vacation can be more than grand scenery just passing by. It can be a grand adventure!

Imagine yourself in a float plane, winging off to adventure. Experience spectacular Southeast Alaska by air and land as you fly over vast glaciers, snow-capped mountains, pristine shorelines, and sparkling fjords to set down in one of the world's last great wildernesses. There you'll touch the real Alaska, and explore remote areas inaccessible to the average traveler.

Owner, Butch Laughlin, will be your personal bush pilot and wilderness guide. Butch has years of bush flying experience and a genuine enthusiasm for sharing the wonders of Alaska. His knowledge of Southeast's wildlife and natural history will add immeasurably to your appreciation of this unique land. We can advise you on local and seasonal conditions and design a wilderness outing to suite your interests.

Guided, backcountry, day excursions by float plane have been our specialty since 1991. We can quickly and comfortably transport you to remote areas offering truly authentic wilderness experiences, and still have you back to town in time to enjoy some of Juneau's other attractions. With a minimum of 2 and a maximum of 5 clients per tour, our small group size ensures a wealth of personal attention, and a chance to savor the uncrowded serenity of wild Alaska.

All necessary gear will be provided, from Fishing Tackle or Binoculars, to Rubber Boots and Rainwear. All you'll need to bring is your sense of adventure and lots of film! *****
